

N.E. N317 Wired For Common Battery Operation

The N1 key switch found on some models, was used to contact the operator serving the party line customers. It's been re-wired so that when it's in the at rest position, the ringer is connected to the telephone line. When depressed, it removes the ringer from the telephone line, and connects it to the magneto generator. At no time is the magneto connected to the telephone line.